DESCRIPTION

FSR's dust covers for use in our FL-400, 500P, and 600P series floor boxes represent a proactive solution to address the need for enhanced protection of in-floor connectors. Each dust cover is constructed with strong neodymium magnets and heavyweight vinyl, ensuring they stay in place while safeguarding against debris and potential damage to connectors. These durable dust covers were designed with premium 40 Mil fire-retardant vinyl, which meets NFPA-701 and MVSS 302 requirements. The PVC vinyl material is crystal-clear, anti-static, and resistant to UV rays, tearing, and abrasion.

The necessity for such protection arises from the understanding that even minute amounts of debris entering connectors, such as HDMI or USB-C, pose significant risks of permanent damage to both the connector and the electronic devices to which they are connected. By implementing gang plate dust covers, FSR aims to mitigate the potential risks associated with debris ingress, protecting the functionality of the connectors.
